Founder, Principal Coach & Facilitator
Entheos LLP

Anita Yap is the founder, Principal Coach & Facilitator of Entheos LLP, a boutique firm established since 2005, dedicated to enabling individuals and organizations to achieve their goals through generative conversations, deep learning and inspired actions. Her personal vision is to live, lead and learn with purpose and passion.

Anita brings with her 12 years of corporate experience in multinational and government organisations and 15 years of running her own firm. Her experience of working with different levels of employees from the senior management team to the first-line executives have deeply informed her about how culture and systems can help or hinder people to thrive or be depleted and how inspiring leaders together with an inspired team can make a transformational impact on the organisation and on society. She facilitates workshops in leadership, facilitation skills, coaching & mentoring, change management and generative conversations. Anita is also often engaged to design and facilitate management retreats, strategic planning meetings, team-learning sessions and focus group discussions for her clients. Since 2008, she has been conducting executive and leadership group coaching to support them in their leadership development and personal effectiveness.

Her personal interest and study in Servant Leadership and Facilitative Leadership has also led her to present several workshops at conferences such as the Creating Great Places to Work Conference, The Servant Leadership Annual Conference (Asia) and International Association of Facilitators Asia Conference and HR Exchange Conference (Singapore).

Anita is currently an Associate Facilitator with the Civil Service College, Social Services Institute and Greenleaf Centre for Servant Leadership (Asia). She is a certified professional facilitator and coach. In 2019, she was certified as a Lead Like Jesus facilitator with the Ken Blanchard Lead like Jesus Institute. She is married with 4 children.
