

Melvin Gay

Melvin Gay is a highly seasoned business professional with a career spanning more than 30 years as a commercial professional and senior business leader for global businesses for their business and operational entities in the Asia Pacific region before his retirement in 2019.

Melvin's initial calling to contribute actively to the kingdom of God can be traced back to 2010 after reading the book "The Purpose Driven Life" by Rick Warren. Aided by circumstances in his career, this calling became clearer and firmer. It was further catalysed by the received challenges "What do you know about Me?" and "What do you know about your Catholic faith?"

Since 2015, Melvin has been actively involved with his church as a lector and a facilitator with the Biblical Apostolate Ministry, with ACTS (A Call To Share, a regional mission organisation under CHARIS (Caritas Humanitarian Aid and Relief Initiatives, Singapore), his intercessory community, and as a leadership facilitator with the Catholic Leadership Centre.

He currently is a member of the Central Committee and Board of ACTS, an EXCO member of his parish Biblical Apostolate Ministry and is also a part-time consultant, advisor, coach and trainer for a local small medium enterprise to the business owner and his regional organisational leaders. Melvin holds a BSc degree from the National University of Singapore, an MBA from the University of Strathclyde and a Certificate in Theology from the Catholic Theological Institute of Singapore. He attended a conversion experience retreat in 2015 and regularly continues to join faith and formation classes that aids in his calling to minister to his communities as a leader, trainer, and facilitator. He plays pickleball to keep healthy and competitive.
